Lt.-Gov. Fraser Dead | $100,000 Armories for Edmonton EDMONTON ENTERTAINING THE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION

Special Trains Bearing the Visitors to the Number of Two Hundred, Arrived in the City This Morning.

Were Taken for a Trip Around Town in Special Street Cars—Luncheons in Five Hotels This Afternoon and a Civic Reception Tonight.

W. H. Rowley, the New President of the Association, Gives His Views on Free Trade—He's For Protection All the Time.

By far the most important collection of business men who have visited Edmonton this summer, is the party of over 200 persons, including almost all of the important manufacturers and industrial heads in Canada, many of them accompanied by their wives and daughters, forming the Canadian Manufacturers' Association which arrived in the city this morning in two special trains.

Fresh from the big convention which held recently in Victoria, B.C., every member of the party is full of the brain with matters relating to the furtherance of the interests of the country, not only in an industrial, but in every other way. In the party are many well known men, whose names are household words throughout the country, men who have in no small way been responsible for the marvellous development of a great but young nation.

Through an untoward circumstance, the arrival of the special trains in Edmonton was delayed. They were due at the C. N. R. station at 9:30 but through the derailing of a coal train near the Saskatchewan bridge last night, which blocked the track for a considerable length of time, the delay was occasioned. At the appointed time the station platform was thronged with people including the civic reception and the reception committee of the board-of-trade. It was 10:30 before the first section pulled in and three-quarters of an hour later the second train made its appearance around the bend.

Edmonton has ambitions to become a manufacturing centre, and what is more important, in furthering those ends than to show the representatives of manufacturing, Canada, what we have to give as inducements to those who desire a good location for a plant. The visitors will see what they can today and what they can't see they will be told tonight. Edmonton people are confident that the visiting manufacturers will agree with the local contentions that this city is ideal for manufacturing sites.

Of course the most important man in the party is the president of the association, W. H. Rowley, president of the E. B. Eddy Company of Hull, Quebec. Mr. Rowley is indeed a business man. A glance will tell you so, and to talk with him will convince you beyond doubt.

"Is the E. B. Eddy company to establish a factory in Edmonton?" was the first question put to Mr. Rowley by a Capital this morning in the course of an interview.

"Why, we have been thinking of that for a long while," replied Mr. Rowley, "but conditions are rather contrary at present. We have to have a lot of young labor and it is rather scarce at present." What we want is cheap labor, cheap power, and a cheap site.

At the present time the company is established in nearly every city in Canada. We are almost the first industrial concern to locate in the west. We started up in Winnipeg in 1881, and since then we have been extending all over the western country. But I am not here to talk about the Eddy company."

"We'll talk about tariff" suggested the reporter.

"We know what I said about tariff at the convention. That is all I have to say."

PRESIDENT ROWLEY'S VIEWS.

"I am for protection—protection not only in tariff, but the protection of our natural resources. We want protection for our fisheries, our timber limits, and our mineral resources. We don't want a lot of foreigners coming in here and monopolizing. We want them for ourselves. The tariff is necessary for the advancement of the country. It benefits all classes."

If the agriculturists don't think so, they don't know the meaning of the word. Do the farmers want the Canadian market open to the agricultural products of the country? Why is absurd. At any rate, the tariff is necessary for the manufacturing community. When the factories shut down then the farms have to be mortgaged. It may not be very politic to say that, but nevertheless it is the plain, frozen, undiluted truth."

WHAT ARE THE POWERS OF LICENSE COMMISSIONERS?

"What's the use of putting twenty five commissioners in the statue if nine men will do as well? Did they mean nineteen?" asked Mr. Justice Stuart of the supreme court when Mr. Parlee appearing for the Riley Hotel argued that the excise commissioners granted licenses at their own discretion instead of actually by the provisions of the act.

The case was the appeal of the Riley Hotel from the judgment of Judge Harvey in the district court cancelling the license granted by the excise commissioners.

Mr. Parlee's argument was that the board were entrusted with the granting of licenses without interference from courts of justice save in cases of fraud.

The argument of the complainant was that the commissioners were held down to the letter of the law; that they were a judicial body and that their judgments were subject to right of appeal in the higher courts.

The wording of the License Act leaves it doubtful whether the board of license commissioners is a judicial body bound to carry out the letter of the law or whether it is a body of laymen who can use powers of discretion in the granting of licenses.

It was on this point that Mr. Justice Stuart and Mr. Parlee exchanged thrusts and this point remains to be cleared up by the judgment.

GRAND PRAIRIE TO HOLD A FAIR

First Annual Exhibition Will Be Held Latter Part of This Week.

NORTHLAND CALL'S TRIP

First Boat to Make Through Trip From Athabasca Landing to Grouard.

(By Government Telegraphs)

Gronard, Alta., Sept. 27.—Gravie Prairie will have its 1st annual exhibition which is to be held at Grand Prairie City on September 29th and 30th. President Henry Roberts and Vice President W. H. Smith, of Gronard, Treasurer John Thompson are the officials. Sports, including football, are to take place, and prizes are offered for athletic and other sports.

The "Northland Call" made a trip from Athabasca Landing to Grouard with passengers and mail, the first boat to make the through trip. The following passengers were on board: C. Richardson, H. Holden, Mrs. J. K. Cornwall, Mrs. Colebrooks, Sergeant Berner, R. N. W. M. P., P. R. Barber, A. Buchanan, Fred Pentell, C. D. A. Barber.

J. H. Kennedy and B. Caneur, of Edmonton, passed through here on their way to Grand Prairie.

ROWLEY

Every day there is a popular publication by the C. M. A. touring party. It is called "On the Cars."

Here's what was said about W. H. Rowley, the newly elected president of the association:

MADE FLYING GRAB OF PRAIRIE CHICK

Two Barbers in White Coats Chased Bird Over Back Yard Fence.

AND THEY CAUGHT IT, TOO

Didn't Kill It—Save Bird Till Saturday When the Season Opens.

They Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded

Wainwright, Alta., Sept. 27.—Elsie Aldridge, aged ten, was fatally shot by her little brother, who was playing with a rifle. He did not know it was loaded.

Charlton, Ont., Sept. 26.—The eight-year-old son of Harvey Palmerster, farmer, was shot and killed by a foreign laborer, who was punning an obsolete Swiss army rifle. He did not know it was loaded.

Presently the roving eye of Barber No. 1 sighted a little brown bird on the shelf above the barber and his hairdressing instincts were aroused. Calling for assistance, which was gladly given, he grabbed a nearby broom and bolted through the door. Narrowly armed himself with two or three lumps of coal and joined the chase.

The appearance of two apprentices in snowy white coats naturally aroused the fears of the timid prairie chick, and it fled with little delay. Sheds and barrels and broken bottles could not deter the dauntless hunters, and the chase proceeded merrily towards Second street, where the now thoroughly frightened chick took sanctuary in a doorway.

Leading by a neck, the hunter with the broom took steady aim and hit his quarry on the head. Thrown down for a count of nine, the chick "can't bark" and made a desperate effort to fly away to safety. But, "I was not to be," the second hunter, who is a man of immense stature, did a Hal Chase leap in the air and the bird lodged in his mit.

Now, here is where the great cunning of the barbers is revealed. Any ordinary mortal would have immediately killed the chick and chased away the two apprentices. With admirable foresight the prairie chick was taken up to a well known apartment in the basement of the residence of the association:

Apartment 10, Upinseskystrasse, Berlin.

September 22, 1910.

W. H. Rowley, President of the A.A.

May you live long and have a good fine life for years to come.

Yours ever,

WILHELM KAISER

LT.-GOV. FRASER OF NOVA SCOTIA DEAD

Died This Morning After Illness of Several Weeks at His Summer Home.

SURROUNDED BY FAMILY

Was Unconscious at the Time Sketch of His Life—Sixty-five Years Old.

Guyshoro, N.S., Sept. 27.—Lt. Governor D. C. Fraser of Nova Scotia, died at eight this morning, while unconscious, surrounded by his family. He leaves with three daughters, Mrs. Wilson of Guelph, Ont.; Miss Margaret and Sarah, and two sons, Alanson and Laurier.

The Dominion government steamer Lady Grey will bring the remains to Halifax and though nothing is decided yet, it is understood that interment will be made at New Glasgow. Flags are at half mast throughout the province.

Lieutenant-Governor Fraser was taken ill last June and came here for an extended vacation. Since that time he has been gradually growing weaker, but kept a cheerful front. Not later than last week, when visited by W. S. Fielding, he joked over his illness and expressed the hope that he would return to Halifax to take up his duties shortly.

The late Hon. Duncan Cameron Fraser, B.A., D.C.L., LL.D., Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, was born in New Glasgow on October 1, 1845, the son of Alex. Fraser. He was married in 1872 to Jessie, daughter of Wm. Graham, also of New Glasgow. The late governor was educated in the public and normal schools at Trois-Rivières, and later read law at Dalhousie University, from which he graduated in 1872. For the few following years he taught school, and in 1873 was named to the bench.

Men's Suit and Overcoat Advice

1. You cannot fail to recognise the necessity of early ordering.
2. You mustn't pick a style from another, but look over the fashion books of a reliable man's tailor, hence you obtain a style befitting to your own person.
3. Selection of materials is difficult, unless the tailor's word can be relied upon.
4. Pick out a few tailors, look over their lines, their styles, and then place your order.

Now we are open for competition. We recognise the good it does all commercial enterprises, and it assists the men and young men in obtaining the highest efficiency in men's tailoring. Reliability, workmanship, exclusive patterns, styles of the best; we can offer the most reasonable prices and we solicit your inspection any time and we will prove our ability to merit your order.

Commissioners Surprised by Letter from the International Lighting and Heating Company

Notwithstanding the definite statement made by the commissioners some time ago to the International Lighting and Heating Company, that no agreement would be considered which did not include the price to be paid on their part of $2,000, a letter from the company asking the commissioners to state the specific terms which would be satisfactory to the city, came up before the commissioners' meeting yesterday afternoon. The company will be notified again that nothing would be considered unless the price was made.

In their letter the company expressed themselves as willing to submit to many of the conditions laid down in the commissioners' letter of several weeks ago, respect to rates, standard of quality of service, extent of plant and system, the restoration of streets and the general provisions as to the city's right to purchase the plant after ten years.

The electric light department will be instructed to remove the wires and exhaust pipes at the rear of the telephone building without delay.

A bi-grass at the sedimentation basin will be installed to meet contingencies. The work is being undertaken in response to a report by Superintendent McNaughton who pointed out that the accumulation of ice above the power plant in the late fall occasionally causes a fall in the water level which might create a temporary shut down of the water supply unless adequate provision be made to meet the situation.

Alex Potter, C. E., New York, stated that his reports on the sewage and water system would be in the hands of the commissioners by October 1st.

A. G. Harrison, secretary of the exhibition association, requested that $1256 the balance of grant due, be placed to the association's account at the Imperial Bank. The matter was referred to Commissioner Burchart for investigation.

NO CLAIM HERE

Man Broke Rib While Working But Can't Claim Damages

Did you ever help kill a pig and hoist him up on a tripod to dress? If you ever did you'll sympathize with the luckless German who tried it on Saturday and mourns a broken rib today. He failed to secure the structure which toppled over the unfortunate one. Having no more use for it in its disabled condition, the farmer promptly "put it to his time" and let his trudge to town for repairs. He felt sore all around and thought of claiming damages from the majesty of the British law. But he finds that while British law would uphold him in his claim against a manufacturer or contractor, it leaves him entirely at the mercy of our oppressive and high-handed agricultural class. So he bewails his lot and mourns for the Vaterland where a farmer could be forced to take out a building permit to erect a trestle to string up his poker.

SWALLOWED TABLETS

Little Three Year Old Girl Took
Whole Box of Bromo-Quinine
Tablets

In her childish chattering yesterday, the three year old daughter of Mr. E. F. Pashell of North Hardware Co., discovered a box of bromo-quinine tablets which she ate once proceeded to swallow. It was some time before her mother noticed what she was about and by that time the whole packet had disappeared. The antipyrine in the medicine almost immediately took effect and the mother ran frantic with fear for the nearest doctor. The doctor on arrival found the child vomiting and although she was still suffering from the effects of the poison the greater part of it had been got rid of and she at once began to mend. Aside from the temporary weakness caused by the action of the drug on the heart, the child is well on the way to recovery and will be all right in the course of a few days.

MCLEOD IN TOWN

Tells of Work Being Done West to Lac St. Anne on C.N.R.
Main Line

That the grading of the C. N. R. would be finished as far as Lac Ste. Anne before winter was the statement made by General Manager McLeod of the Canadian Northern yesterday. Mr. McLeod spent yesterday in inspecting the grading on the main line west of here going out to Lac Ste. Anne by automobile. He expressed himself as entirely satisfied with the work and the progress. There is no shortage of labor and the grade has already been completed for thirty miles west and only ten miles remain before Lac Ste. Anne is reached. Of course much depends on the weather, yet it remains favorable much more than may be.

As far as laying steel is concerned Mr. McLeod states that the C. N. R. is very anxious to finish the line from Vegreville to Calgary and it is hardly likely that they will withdraw the track-laying machine until this line is completed. Should the winter remain open, however, it is possible that a start may be made at laying the steel west of St. Albert.

Mr. McLeod went east in his private car Neepawa last evening accompanied by Mr. C. R. Stovel, right of way agent for the Canadian North-

ALTA. LEAGUE TO BE FORMED

Edmonton is Requested to Enter from Two to Four Teams in Amateur Hockey League

Deacon White, who last year financed the "Deacon's" city amateur hockey champions, today received the following letter from Calgary, which is self-explanatory. Deacon says that there are enough first class players in Edmonton for two good sevens, and he may consider the proposition and place a team in the league. The Y. M. C. A. will consider the other Edmonton teams.

Mr. Clancy's letter is as follows:

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 24, 1910.

Deacon White, Esq.:
Edmonton, Alta.

At a meeting of the Calgary hockey clubs it was decided to take up with all hockey clubs in Alberta the question of forming an Alberta Amateur Hockey Association and to obtain from the different hockey clubs an expression of their views on the following plan as suggested by the meeting here.

It is the opinion of the Calgary clubs that if an Alberta Amateur Hockey Association can be formed and officiated with competent officials who will carry on without fear or favor any competition that may be drawn up by a representative committee appointed by delegates from the different clubs, we will have better hockey in Alberta and a step will be made in placing Amateur hockey on a solid footing in this province.

The Herald Trophy

The Calgary Daily Herald has very generously offered to donate a beautiful cup to be competed for by at least six amateur senior hockey clubs in the province. While they stipulate six to be the minimum, they do not limit the number of clubs that may enter this competition, and become members of this proposed association.

It is suggested that this association be formed and divided into districts so that each district play off semi-final and final games. Thus, you will know who is the champion of the O. H. A. and I think no better organization than the above could be selected as an example to follow. The cup proposed to be donated by the Calgary Daily Herald will pass to the possession of the club winning three years consecutively. To give you a better understanding of Calgary's position, I might state that it is the intention to have at least four senior hockey teams from Calgary to compete in this league. We are of the opinion that Edmonton will enter as many. In doing this, we have in mind the fact that if Calgary and Edmonton put in fewer clubs than above suggested, it would have a tendency to deter the smaller towns in the province from entering this proposed association.

Other Probable Entries

I am forwarding letters to the different hockey clubs in Vegreville, Vermilion, Lloydminster, Fort Saskatchewan, Edmonton, Strathcona, LaCoubre, Wetaskiwin, Camrose, Stettler, Red Deer, Calgary, High River, Macleod, Pincher Creek and Coleman.

I wish you would let me have your opinion of this proposed league with any suggestions you may have to offer in regard to the information and handling of your letter. On receipt of your favorable letter, we will if the census of opinion warrants it, call a meeting of delegates from the different clubs in Alberta and endeavor to form this proposed association. There is no time to lose in getting this reorganization completed as the Hockey season will open within three months and it will take all the time at our disposal to complete arrangements and put it in such shape that the officers appointed will be in a position to take it in hand from the start. I, therefore, urge you to please give this your immediate attention.

It may appear to you that the Calgary clubs in taking the initiative are presumptuous, but I wish to assure you that our only idea in doing this is to start a new organization, to get amateur hockey on a sound footing and to form such an organization as will equal the O. H. A.

Trusting that you will co-operate with us in this undertaking and that you will give it your earnest support, I am,

Yours sincerely,
STEVE CLANCY,
Sec. Organization. Com.

ESKIMOS MUST TURN OUT

Much Time This Week to be Given to Team Play. A Full Attendance Requested

The Eskimos are not turning out to practice as they should, and it makes team play out of the question. Last evening there were only 13 men in uniform, which is a sorry showing for a team that has an important match on Saturday. It is Coach Belanger's idea to spend most of the week in team play and signal work and to perfect this system it is absolutely necessary that every candidate for the team turn out regularly this week. Practices will be held today, Wednesday, and Thursday, with a final signal drill on Friday afternoon. The goal posts are now in the ground, and the lines will be marked out tomorrow so the backs will practice at drop kicking the goal.

The Calgary Y. M. C. A. had a mighty strong fourteen and the Eskimos are going to have the strength of their lives to come out winners.

The following absences from last night's practice are requested to be out this evening without fail: Rodgers, Alex McDonald, Cornick, C. E. McDonald, Parsons, Gibson, Murphy, Douglas, Ross and Grieves.

POTTS FIGHTS TOMORROW

Takes on Maurice Thompson in Calgary at Catch Weight—Contest Will be Close

Tomorrow evening the Potts-Thompson scrap takes place in Calgary, and will be some contest. Jim left for Calgary today, and will be joined there tomorrow by a party of nearly 40 Edmontonians, led by Bob Macdonald.

Thompson has been working out in Moose Baxter's bath house with his trainer Jimmy Flynn, who formerly looked after Abe Attell and is in the pink of condition.

Potts has been in active training ever since his bout in Stratford, and has been added very much in his work by Bud Burt. The latter will be in Jimmy's corner on Wednesday night.

The Edmontonians will back Potts to a man, and if Jimmy brings home the bacon there should be a little slice.

Calgary's own percolate northward, but Thompson is a tough customer, and the referee will certainly know he has been in a hard fight.

Within the last few months Thompson has had several contests, including bouts with Pete Sullivan, Gene Sullivan, Billy Morse, Harry Griffin and Louis Long. With the exception of Pete Sullivan, which ended in a twenty round draw, Thompson won.

COOPER RELEASED

Along With Collins of Winnipeg Is Among the Drafted Men Let Out by Chicago White Sox

Chicago, Sept. 27.—President Comiskey of the White Sox yesterday pruned his list of drafted players and announced the following releases: Outfielder Powell, from St. Joe to St. Joe; Catcher Cooper, from Brandon to St. Joe; Pitcher Collins from Winnipeg; St. Joe; Fielder Reilly, from St. Joe; St. Joe; Catcher Slichty to Wichita; Fielder Burman, from Madison, Wis., to Wichita; Pitcher Owen from Des Moines, Iowa; Moines; Shortstop Weaver, from York, Pa., to San Francisco; Third Baseman McDonald, Terre Haute to San Francisco; First Baseman Anderson from Flint, Mich., to Quincy.

SILENT CONNIE TO MARRY

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 26.—Connie Mack Wednesday attained the climax of his life filled with baseball honors.

His Athletics captured the American League pennant, and in the many telegrams of congratulations he received from all over the country was one far more precious than all the others put together, for it expressed the joy of the woman who will become the bride of the manager on November 7. Miss Halloran is that person. She lives with her mother in Philadelphia.

The plans for the wedding are so far perfected that it is known that as soon as the world series is over Mr. and Mrs. Mack will depart from New York for Italy. Mr. Mack has long been a widower. He has two sons and a daughter.

They are going to have trouble in getting the Rough Riders who are working Ottawa this year to get the players in the Civil Service out to practice, as the men have been told that they cannot get off before five o'clock, when they used to be allowed off fast year at four o'clock.

CHASE, WILL BE YANK'S BOSS

Present Manager Stallings Will Probably be Paid off in New York Today

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Hal Chase will be manager of the New York Highlanders next season. His contract, as leader of the Yanks already is has signed and approved and is in the hands of Owner Frank Farrell.

Chase gave out this news yesterday. It wasn't exactly news at that for the record of the last week or two all pointed to just such a conclusion, but the manager's name was not mentioned.

Chase's departure will probably cost him $10,000, and he will have maintained silence here because the latter was on his way to New York for with Owner Farrell.

No Surprise to Stallings.

Stallings will meet his employer this morning and the tidings will break to him. However, he won't be surprised, either, for his perfectly good eyes have enabled him to read the handwriting on the wall, the bench and everywhere else. The present manager's contract does not expire until the end of this season, but there is a possibility that he will be paid off and given a permanent vacation. In that event, Chase will continue the job of managing which he sorted yesterday.

Chase doesn't believe he is "in the wrong" with his teammates. He said they knew as well as he did that he was to manage them in 1911 and that none of them had acted as if displeased by the knowledge. Mr. Farrell will hear Stallings' side of the long argument with Chase at the meeting in New York, but nothing George will make any difference with the owner's plan which already is laid.

CHASE WILL CONTINUE TO PLAY.

Chase, of course will continue to play first base, and will direct the team from the field. It is understood his added duties will bring him a fat income.

The idea is a good one, particularly since the introduction of managers among the local clubs. Rugby fans of this city will recall how the Ottawa went in in the last quarter and swept Tigers off their feet in the Big Four-off-saw, the Forty-Third Big and Drum Corps parading up and down the side lines with blaring bugles and rolling drums. The players cook up the battle cry and did the Waterloo snarl. Tigers retreating back to their own line a beaten team. In addition to making things lively music fills in the waits.

DEACON SIGNED FORD.

Russell Ford of the New York Highlanders who is the pitching sensation of the American league this year made his professional debut in Lisbon, Minn., under the management of our own Deacon White. Deacon had such a good team in those days that the Faigoo management offered to sign up the entire bunch.

THE Y. M. C. A. TEAM

The players showed up to advantage in the practices for the Y. M. C. A. are McLean, Wark, Dumpy, Cornfoot, Miller, Fullerton, McMaster, Sinclair, Frost, Hamilton and Kemp-Albertan.

ATHLETE WAS THERE

Douglas Kay, Varsity Shot-putter, Hands American Officer a Wallap

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 26.—Excitement reigned for a short time this morning at the ferry dock when Douglas Kay, one of the best known athletes in Ontario, and winner of medals and trophies that would fill a bushel basket, gave Col. Lattimer, of Detroit a demonstration of his pugilistic prowess.

Lattimer is one of Detroit's most prominent citizens and lives on the Canadian river-front above Walkerville. He came down to the ferry dock in his auto this morning, just as gates closed. Kay is acting as manager of the team during the month of October. Word was exchanged between Lattimer and Kay and the former said he would teach the young man. He received an invitation to come ahead. Lattimer jumped out of his auto and was promptly felled by a well-directed blow from Kay's fist.

Kay is a Toronto University student and holds an amateur record as shot-putter. He is also a discus thrower of renown.

MUSIC FOR THE FOOTBALL GAMES.

Ottawa, Sept. 27.—It is probable the Ottawa Football Club will engage a band to help some music at every game.

The idea is a good one, particularly since the introduction of songs among the local clubs. The Ottawa went in in the last quarter and swept Tigers off their feet in the Big Four-off-saw, the Forty-Third Big and Drum Corps parading up and down the side lines with blaring bugles and rolling drums. The players cook up the battle cry and did the Waterloo snarl. Tigers retreating back to their own line a beaten team. In addition to making things lively music fills in the waits.

TOMMY BURNS WAS ROBBED

Departed from His Usual Custom of Looking Under Bed Before Retiring

Seattle, Sept. 27.—Tommy Burns was down yesterday hobbling around with the aid of a cane.

"Never again!" declares Tommy with hand upraised when asked if he is going to play any more lacrosse. Tommy's knee was put out of commission in a lacrosse game not long ago, and he has been under the care of a doctor ever since. He is through with Canada's national game, except on the road, on say, he says.

Tommy says he was robbed of a gold watch and $105 in money while in Vancouver, and attributes his loss to departing from his usual custom when retiring.

For years it has been my custom to always look under the bed and back of any curtains that may be in the room before crawling into bed," said Tommy yesterday. "I am just like an old man in that respect. This time I did not look under the bed, for some reason or other, and I am firmly convinced that a man hiding under my bed cleaned me of my watch and chain.

Tommy wears a big "rock" in his tie, and he would lose that too, if he didn't take the precaution to slip the tie pin and fold a cloth that was on the doorknob in his room. Tom is now more firmly convinced than ever that he had the right system when he looked under the bed and tried the locks on the doors before crawling into the hay.

IT'S A PITY

It appears that the Board of Trade are not meeting with a very enthusiastic response in their efforts to organize a business men's trip to Northern Alberta towns. The idea is a good one, and it seems a pity that the merchants and business men of Edmonton are not coming forward in numbers to take in the trip. It is to be hoped that by tonight the required number will have handed in their names to make the trip a success.

C. M. A.

We in Western Canada are so well acquainted with the Canadian Manufacturer's Association, as they are in the east. As yet, manufacturing is not one of the big things out west, consequently this trip of the manufacturers from Eastern Canada ought to be productive of good in more ways than one. It should show these big manufacturers that there is a great big possibility for their manufacturing concerns, and it should also let them realize the strong feeling there is in Western Canada for free trade at present.

GENERAL BOTHA

The decision of General Louis Botha to retain the premiership of the South African Union seems to have been received with satisfaction by the leading members of the opposing political party. He has been recognized as the ablest of the constructive and progressive Nationalists, who represented to a great extent the Boer interests; and as regards a policy for the future development of the country he differed little in minor details from Dr. Jameson, the leader of the Unionist or British party. He may find himself, however, handicapped by lack of parliamentary support, for the Unionists in the recent election showed unexpected strength. A combination with the successful Labor candidates is depended on to give a good working majority.

The later stages of the campaign were marked with much personal recrimination and racial bitterness. The result in most of the contested districts was close, although so little interest was shown in some parts of the country, that thirty-seven seats of the Assembly were uncontested. General Botha, who stood for election in the Transvaal, was himself defeated by Percy Fitzpatrick. Dr. Jameson's election was practically uncontested in the Eastern Cape Province of Colony, but he had a difficult fight to win Cape Town, where he had been also nominated on account of the absence of the regular candidate. Four members of General Botha's ministry were sent from uncontested districts, but three other members of the cabinet, reports indicate, were defeated. Mr. Herzog, who has proved himself offensive to British interests by his championship of the measure for bilingual instruction in the schools, was one of the members of the Cabinet elected. As General Botha is believed to be not in entire sympathy with Mr. Herzog's educational plans it is uncertain if the latter will be retained in his cabinet post. The frequent charges that the members of the Unionists meant the domination of the Afrikaners proved ineffectual campaign argument, for it turned out that what was called the "capitalist class" was as well represented in one party as in the other. In spite of this fact it was evident that the Rand was the stronghold of Unionism and is likely so to remain.

The result would indicate that a considerable proportion of the Boer voters supported the Unionist candidates. In this case much of the old enmity between Boer and British must have died out. The average Boer has had a great reverence for constituted government and an implicit obedience to the dictates of a party caucus. The memory of the man that was responsible for nearly all of the leaders of Boer opinion, seem to wing fainter. The influence of one, is spreading out over k veldt. Of these changed a division of South African politics on lines less coincident with racial divisions.

No important national question was involved. Even the division between the coast and the inland, which it has been predicted would be the first "natural cleavage," was scarcely discussed. The question of the sale of wine, of which the Cape Colony is making an excellent quality, in the other provinces of the Union, the introduction of coal labor, and the enfranchisement of negroes were made little of in the campaign. These issues, which must be met in this union is to be established upon a common basis, are likely to come up soon for settlement and to try to extreme the resources and intelligence of the new government and parliament. General Botha, a Boer Prime Minister, sustained by British votes, may after all prove the power needed in a country in which white races are endeavoring to form one nation.

EDMONTON IN RAINING

The reporter stated that a first hand statement was desired.

"Well I am for protection," was the definite reply. "Protection not only in tariff and the protection of our natural resources. We want protection for our fisheries, our timber limits, and our mineral resources. We don't want a lot of foreign companies here and manipulating them for us."

"The agriculturists don't seem to think so," said she reporter. "Well, then, the agriculturists don't know the meaning of the word. Do the farmers want the Canadian market open to the agricultural products of the country? Why is it absurd. At any rate, the tariff is necessary for the manufacturing community. When the factories shut down then the farms have to be mortgaged. It may not be very polite to say that, but nevertheless, it is the plain, frozen, naked, unadulterated truth."

"What is the relation between the conservation scheme of the Hon. Clifford Sifton, and the manufacturing and the export?" asked the reporter.

"The conservation of natural resources is very important," replied Mr. Rowley, "and the Conservation Commission is the outcome of an agitation on the part of the manufacturers. Therefore, the manufacturers must think it desirable and in their interest."

Mr. Rowley, in speaking of the recent convention in Victoria, said it was highly successful, and would likely bear fruitful results.

The president of the E. B. Eddy Company makes semi-annual tours in the west, so Edmonton is nothing new to him. He is a great believer in the future of the city, evidenced by his desire to establish a factory here. Mr. Rowley has heavy interests in the west, and is the owner of an area of land some nine miles near Clover Bar.

After the party had been received the reception committee, they were escorted to four large street cars, and taken on a tour of the city, which, as is generally the case included the packing plant. On the conclusion of the sight seeing lunch was served at the city hotels.

Following is a list of the delegates who attended the annual convention in Vancouver. A large number of these are visiting Edmonton today.

SPECIFY MAGI
Sedative! Why don't you run the risk of getting just what you want? "Water Magi" is the one water from the very Caledonia Springs.

An Ounce of Prevention is worth a pound of cure. As a preventive for troubles arising from a disordered stomach and kidneys—for constipation, biliousness, gout, rheumatism, etc., etc.

MAGI

is an unexcelled specific. No one can interfere with the normal functions of the organs. That's what quenching you need.

Magi, wonderful "fresh" in taste, is the simplest and most delicious beverage you could possibly imagine. You should drink Magi daily. Be sure you ask for it.

Financial Statement Was Prepared at Meeting of the Directors Last Evening.

To the great surprise and pleasure of everyone connected with the Edmonton Exhibition it was found last night when a report was presented at the semi-monthly meeting that the deficit only amounted to $600. It was a great surprise to everyone that in spite of the exceedingly bad weather which prevailed during almost the whole of the fall.

Manager Harrison made this estimate in a preliminary report at a full meeting of the directors, H. G. Campbell holding the chair. He also expressed the opinion that with four days' fine weather the exhibition would be a financial success and a paying proposition.

Monday, October 17th, was chosen as the date for the annual meeting and Manager Harrison presented his report: "It seemed advisable," he said, "to issue a preliminary report owing to the keen interest taken in the exhibition this year. The weather it must be admitted was not favorable but in spite of this fact outside the current office, salary and insurance, to ask the city for $600 to cover the deficit. The exhibition is taking up a strong position before the public, as shown by the recognition of its work by the Provincial Government and by the largeness of money that it handles during this year."

The policy of the exhibition should still be to make the leading stocks show in western Canada. At the fair this year there were 454 horses, 475 cattle, 188 sheep, 178 swine, 233 poultry, and 84 dogs, which completely filled the buildings.

MELBA AND HER SCOTTISH FRIENDS

Numbers o' Mither's Scottish friends have asked the famous dava to sing "Comin' thro' the Rye," which was taught to her as a child by her father, Mr. David Mitchell, a patriotic son of Fifebridge, and it is pretty certain she will be heard in this old ballad at her forthcoming concert. It is the first song she ever sang and it won her an encore at a school concert when she was only six years old. She sings it with the spirit and accent possible only to a Scotchwoman, and among her friends with whom it is a prime favorite, is that grand old Scotsh-Canadian, Lord Mount Stephen. The demand for seats at Harmony Hall, Rice street, continues very strong.

LECTURE AND CONCERT

In addition to the lecture by Rev. Robert Pearson in Grace Church this evening on "Homer, His Nature and Uses," the selections will be rendered by Miss Penelope Davies, late of Ottawa; Miss Louise Moore, late of Harton and Mr. Howard Stinchbury. Instrumental selections will be given by Miss Luella Blasdale and Miss Jean McLean.

wrote: "I wanted to tell you we have used Dr. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY and it has been a great help to us. I have had this for twenty years, and have found nothing to equal it for all Summer Complaints, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, etc. Our house is situated in the country and I have recommended it to be kept in every home, especially where there are children."

NOTICE—We wish to warn the public against being imposed on by unscrupulous dealers who substitute the so-called "Strawberry Compounds" for Dr. Fowler's. If you want to be on the safe side ask for Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and in getting what you ask for everything we thought would help has failed. A neighbor advised me to buy Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. We took it and before the end of a week our baby was as well as ever. We always keep "Dr. Fowler's" in our home.

MANAGER CHANCE FEARS JINX

New York, Sep. 27.—Manager Chance of the Chicago Cubs, with the pennant practically clinched, still clings to the superstitions which are cherished as sacred in the Cubs' camp. He has refused to allow the players to sit for a group photograph, similar to that published of the Athletics when they nailed down the American league pennant. Furthermore, the P. L. says, if he did give permission, several of the players who fear a jinx as much as he would fail to appear. Several local photographers, not familiar with the Cub idea of hoodoo,

Drink It Oftener—Live Longer No Better Food For Everybody

Fry's Cocoa will do you more good than any other food or beverage. Drink it at every meal—between meals—at bedtime—and you will gain in healthy flesh, cleaner blood, stronger nerves, added energy and vim. It is the richest, purest food-beverage money can buy.

Better Than Milk For Children

For invalids, for tired people, for nervous children, for failing appetites, FRY'S COCOA is better than medicine—a perfect tonic, food, beverage, all in one, and a delicious drink as well. For children, FRY'S COCOA is far better than milk—more nutritious, easier digested, purer. You won't have to coax the little folks to drink it—but you'll find the proof of the good it does written in rosy letters on the plump little checks. And it is just as good for grown people.

Good For Everyone

Tea or coffee may not really harm you—but neither can benefit you at all nor feed you at all—both are mere infusions—mere flavours. But cocoa is an emulsion of gluten, fats, albumen, starch, sugar—all the food-requisites, available in the most palatable form—alluring to the taste, instantly helpful to the system. "There is no better food than Fry's Cocoa," says Dr. Andrew Wilson, F.R.S.E., the great authority. Health states that Fry's "is the strongest and best cocoa that can possibly be produced." Prove that for yourself—order a tin from your grocer—tell him, though, that

Nothing But FRY'S Will Do

Fry's Breakfast Cocoa, you see, is the most economical (as well as the purest and richest) of cocoas. A tiny spoonful makes a big cupful of the fragrant, nourishing, palate-pleasing beverage that is the best thing anyone can drink. A tin of Fry's costs very little, considering how long it lasts even though you use it thrice a day for the whole household.

Fry's—is good

And when 'company' drops in unexpectedly, you are never at your wits' end for a satisfying repast if you have Fry's Cocoa in the pantry—it goes a long way toward making a feast of an ordinary meal. Everyone likes it. Be sure that you include Fry's Cocoa in your next order to the grocer.

Dr. Joseph Fry founded the House of Fry at Bristol, England, early in the eighteenth century. To-day the works, the largest cocoa manufactory in the world, employ nearly 5,000 people. Messrs. Fry hold Royal Warrants as Manufacturers of Cocoa and Chocolate to the Royal House of England, of Spain and of the Hellenes; and they have received more than 300 Grands Prix, Gold Medals and Diplomas attesting the high merit and purity of their wares.

Treat Yourself To Fry's Chocolates

One, at least, of the good stores you deal with has a supply of fresh-made, daintily-packed, delicious chocolate candies—Fry's Chocolates—alluring little morsels of pure goodness. Carry a package away with you—leave just twenty-five cents with the shopman—and be glad you made the acquaintance of Fry's Chocolate Assortment. Fry's are quite a little nicer than the very nice candies you have tasted yet—richer—purer.

25c At Good Dealers

Every morsel is a palate-delighting surprise. Surely try them—see that the cover says FRY'S CHOCOLATE ASSORTMENT—the price is only twenty-five cents for a big boxful. You will think the price should be higher.

ever the truth about the murder of Moe.

She suddenly began to tremble. Would the doctors let her see him? What excuse could she give? If he was the man with the bullet hole in his calf that night he had heard her speak, had known she was there. He must not know beforehand of her coming lest he have suspicion of her errand. William Lawlor, he could gain her access to him directly, dying perhaps, maybe he did not know that Hugh was in jeopardy for his crime. Guilty and dying, if he knew this, he would surely tell the truth. But if he died before she could reach him? The papers said some days ago, it might be a week already, he took heart, however, from the statement of his lawyer's previous condition.

She sprang to her feet and looked at her chateaubriand watch. The eastbound express was overdue. There was no time to lose. She pushed open and entered the study where she had been sitting, crying over the phone, where a study lamp burned on the desk.

A pile of legal looking papers had been set beside it, and with them lay a torn page of a newspaper which further edition gave her a start of pleasure. The paper was the trial of Hugh. He had found its way across the ranges to where the names of Silvers and Moreau had been known. Perhaps every one at Aniston already knew of it. Was he to be tried? That was all I can say to you or to those who are here with me. "I have wrung you. If I could coin my blood drop by drop to pay for the past I could not set that right. If giving my life over and over again would bring me back again I would give it gladly. But what you ask now is one thing I cannot do. It would make me a pitiful coward. I did not kill Moreau. That is all I can say to you or to those who are here with me."

"It is true?" he said, leaning closer in his chair. "I have wrung you. If I could coin my blood drop by drop, it will mean that. That counts so fearfully much to me, more than my own life a hundred times. Yet there is something that counts more than all that to you."

"The fact was that of a man who held his hand in the fire. "Jesus!" he said. "It is like this with me. When you found me here—the day I saw you on the balcony—I was a man whose soul had lost its compass and its bearings. I was a man who had lost his soul. You wake it up, and it is forever alive now. And now with my memory has come back a debt of my past that I never paid. Whatever the outcome, for my soul's sake I must settle it now and with you, and forever."

She rose slowly to her feet, with a despairing gesture.

"I have saved others," she quoted in a hard voice; "himself he could not save! I once heard a man speak from that pulpit of mine. It was your friend, the Rev. Henry Sanderson. I thought it a very spiritual sermon. That was before I knew what his companionship had been to me."

"It seemed to me that justice in the universe had added another link to immortalizing himself, now, not you. But for him you would never be here. He ruined your life and mine, and I hate and despise him for a selfish hypocrite."

That was what he himself had said to her in those old days. The edge of a flush touched his forehead as he said slowly, almost appealingly:

"He was not a hypocrite, Jessica. Whatever he was it was not that. At one time he was a good man. That was his saving, not caring what others thought. He despised weakness in others. He thought it none of his affair. So others were influenced. But after he came to see things differently from others—standpoint—when he went into a minister's study, he would have given the world to undo it."

"Men's likings are strange," she said. "Because he never had temptations like yours and has never done what the world calls evil, he is not evil. He is as noble as you—noble enough to shield a murderer to his own danger."

"Ah, no, Jessica!" he interposed gently. "I only said that in my place he would do the same."

"You are a murderer," she insisted firmly. "You will not admit it, but I know. There can be no justice or right in that. If Harry Sanderson is all you think him, if he stood here now and knew the whole, he would say, 'I am a murderer, brave and noble, the wickedest one."

He shook his head, and the sad shadow of a bitter smile touched his lips. "He would not say so," he said.

She snatched up the paper again.

"Who has been for some months on a prolonged vacation"—the phrase stared sardonically at her. That might carry a double meaning. It might be that he intended to go to the mountains.

"Or he might be on a hunting trip."

He held a bizarre, uncanny suggestion.

This cross, the very emblem of vicious sacrifice! Suppose Harry Sanderson had never given it to Hugh! Suppose he had lost it on the hillside.

It was a glad anniversary.

Silvers had caught up to her at last.

A woman had rushed through her hair. The religious symbol had stood for Harry Sanderson and the chance coincidence of date had possibly pointed to the murderer.

At her side, Hugh had dropped it—an old keepsake of the friend who had been his ideal, his exemplar and whose ancient influence was still powerful, though he had been dead for many years.

The recurrence of the name jarred and surprised her. Hugh had dropped it—an old keepsake of the friend who had been his ideal, his exemplar and whose ancient influence was still powerful, though he had been dead for many years.

She looked at the date. It was May 23. She shuddered, for that was the month and day that Dr. Moreau had been born. Her heart beat faster.

It was the month when he had been clearly established today by the prosecution.

To the original owner of that cross perhaps the date that had come into Hugh's life with such a sinister meaning was a glad anniversary.

What is the Use of paying two or three prices for your clothing, furnishings and shoes, when you can get the best there is at the Lyons, for a good deal less money than you would pay elsewhere. We are daily putting in stock large shipments of fall overcoats, suits, shirts, sox, underwear, caps, mitts, gloves, boots, shoes, etc. and invite you to call and size up our offerings before making any purchase. It will be greatly to your advantage.

Our fleece lined underwear cannot be equalled in Edmonton at the prices we are asking. We are making a specialty of Men's Black Overalls; which are sold regularly for $1.25 a pair—
Our price is 75¢.

You can buy cheaper here, and all we want is an opportunity of showing you.

JACK: How is it that Mr. Brown can get a million dollars and drive her lady friends and you cannot get one safe for me. Well, my dear, Brown deals at Horner's Livery and you phone him and order one. Oh, Jack, What a dear.

Dear Madam,—

Since our notice of a change in the management of The Bon Marche, we have not yet had the pleasure of a visit from you.

We use this advertisement to call your attention to the fact that it means money saved by doing so.

We have brought in large shipments of your requirements, and we ask your approval.

In FURS especially have we quality and value to offer as an inducement to interest our customers.

We have gone to considerable expense to bring from the East up-to-date styles, and a visit will convince you.

Saturday, October 1st, is Housekeepers Day at
